Dear Families and Community Partners,

By now, you may have heard the exciting news: we have a new name! Citizens is officially becoming Midtown Community School.

This name is not new to us; it is, in many ways, a homecoming. Over a decade ago, a visionary group of families called the Midtown Community School Initiative laid the groundwork for our school. Their vision, persistence, and belief that this community deserved something extraordinary is the foundation for everything we are today. Our new name honors their legacy and keeps their spirit at the heart of who we are.

The name also reflects our deepest commitment: to be rooted in and reflective of this community. Midtown is not just where we are located; it is who we serve and who we aspire to grow alongside. We want every student, family, and partner who walks through our doors to feel that this school belongs to them. That is the promise embedded in our name.

Our new logo reflects these values visually. The flowing lines feel right at home in Kansas City, aka the City of Fountains, a city known for its beauty and energy. The curved letters represent the winding paths we journey along, and the figures woven into the design represent the growth we hope to see in our students, in ourselves as educators, and in the relationships we build together.

While our name and look are new, our mission has not changed. We remain committed to providing an exceptional education in a caring, inclusive environment, and to doing that work hand-in-hand with you. Your trust and partnership mean everything to us, and we do not take lightly the responsibility that comes with it.

We are so proud of where we have been, and we are even more excited about where we are going — together, as Midtown Community School.

With gratitude and excitement,

Dr. Danielle Miles
